

Corporate Teambuilding Events

Corporate Handbuilding Event

During this hand-building event, each person will go on their own creative adventure. They will start with slabs of leather hard clay and, by the end of the session, they will each have designed, decorated and painted a shallow bowl.

In the process, they will learn basic handbuilding skills including the use of a variety of clay tools for decorating and texturing. Finally they will paint their piece using glaze colors of their choice. District Clay bisque fire and then glaze fire each piece.

This event is designed to spur creative juices, present interesting design choices and to teach basic clay building techniques all in a fun team setting.

This event offers multiple teambuilding opportunities including making quick creative decisions, working creatively within a group and gaining a deeper appreciation of each team member's unique creative abilities.

It comes with a specially designed TeamBuilding Discussion Guide that participants can use if they wish.

Basic Info:

Cost: $75 per person; 6 to 12 participants.

What it includes: 2 1/2 hours of fun making a handbuilt piece of ceramic ware. Instruction by a DCC teacher, clay, underglaze and glazes, decorating tools provided and bisque/glaze firing. Also, a full studio tour including our gallery, work rooms and kiln areas. Each person will take home one handbuilt piece. Beer, wine, water and some crackers also included. Work is available for pick up approx. 4 weeks after the event.

What you bring: A small towel or apron.

What we need: We need a 50% deposit to hold your event with any remaining amounts due at the beginning of the event.

Corporate Wheel Event

Working on the pottery wheel is fun . . . and challenging. It requires eye to hand coordination, careful placement of your hands and firm control over a rapidly spinning wheel. Don't expect to make a perfect pot on your first time. But you will be thrilled when you cause a cylinder to rise out of a solid lump of clay using your own two hands.

This event is design to spur focus and concentration, expose people to a challenging and possibly frustrating situation (working on the wheel) and to confront a situation where the imperfect is the only possible result (it is very difficult to make a perfect pot on your first try.)

This event offers multiple teambuilding opportunities including allowing participants to confront their own expectations and limitations in a safe fun-filled group environment. It comes with a specially designed Team Building Discussion Guide that participants can use if they wish.

Basic Info:

Cost: $70 per person; 6 to 26 participants.

What it includes: 2 1/2 hours of fun on the pottery wheel. Instruction by a DCC teacher, clay and tools and a Corporate Wheel Team Building Discussion Guide. Also a full studio tour including our gallery, wheel room and kiln areas. Beer, wine, water and some crackers also included. (Note: because you are working with wet clay, there is nothing to take home*.)

What you bring: a small towel or apron.

What we need: We need a 50% deposit to hold your event with any remaining amounts due at the beginning of the event.
